"KEEP THE RASCAIS OUT."

From The Boston Heraid (Ind.)

To the Cry, "Turn the rascals out," the beply will surely be made, "Keep the rascals out," How would the Democratic leaders enjoy a campaign on this line! The Democratic party is the party of Swartout and Tweed. "Keep the rascals out." The last Democratic cabinet and the last Democratic collector at New-York stole more than all their successors for nearly twenty years. "Keep the rascals out." The Democratic State of Tennessee has had three defaulting treasurers in succession. "Keep the rascals out." A full proportion of the votes cast in Congress for the river and anyon loss have been Democratic. "Keep the rascals out." The Democratic of the jury that acquitted the Star Routa thieves were Democrate. "Keep the rascals out." The Democratic dayor of Albany has just resigned to prevent a frail that would have exposed the gross frauds by which Democrats ecated him. "Keep the rascals out." The Union League Club, of Chicago, has just discovered incontestable proof that the worst kind of ballot-box tuffing was resorted to to re-elect the Democratic Mayor Harrison, who has nullified a law of the Legalature to pay his debt to the rummies and criminals who supported him. "Keep the rascals out." Elections in more than half the Southern States have been turned into farces, and the rights of majorities openly trampled under foot to insure Democratic ascendency. "O, Keep the rascals out." WEEP THE RASCALS OUT."

POOR PRICES FOR CATTLE.

The second day's sale of Jersey cattle, held yesborday at the American Horse Exchange, corner Firtieth-st. and Broadway, brought together very pinch the same persons who were in attendance the day before. It was said that many cows were resold in private at advanced figures over the auction prices. There certainly were many bargains secured. The final lot of forty-four head sold for $13,100, an average of $297.72 each. Thirty-six cows brought $12,250, an average of $330.11 each. The eight buils sold for $850, an average of $106.25. These averages were brought down by the large number of calves sold. The best prices paid were by H. K. Vanderbilt for Brune d'Or, $575; F. Loesser, of Somerville, N. J., for Eastern Sultane, $475, and for Frugal, $575; J. W. Johnson, of Springfield, N. J., for Mrs. Newton, $375, and for Le Seute's Beauty, $230; J. R. Rand, Montclair, N. J., for Platona, $360; J. O. Matthews, of Barre, Mass., for Liberette, $330, for Lord Beaconstield, $275, for Fannie Hammond, $410, for Miss McMahon, $215, and for Wide Awake, $305; Wallace Barnes, of Bristol, Conn., for Neptune's Lady, $305, and A. F. Mullin, of Mount Holly Springs, Penn., for Fender, $750. The interest centred in the fine helfer, Brightness, that made with her first calf sixteen pounds of butter per week. She was finally secured by G. S. Moulton, of Randolph, Vt., for $1,000. He also took Rose of Castelar at $200 and Rose's Pansy at $500. nuch the same persons who were in attendance the

MEETING OFTHE DOCK BOARD.

The Dock Commissioners were informed yesterday by John Backus, of No. 454 Cherry-st., that vessels by John Backus, of No. 454 Cherry-st., that vessels could not be safely unloaded at the foot of Jackson-st., because the bulkhead was obstructed by mud. Backus also stated that the sunken hull of a steamer was carried up and down the East River by the tide off Jackson-st., thus obstructing navigation. Charles Guidet, a contractor, appeared before the Commissions with coursel and witnesses, to appear sioners, with counsel and witnesses, to appeal against the order of Engineer Greene, requiring him to relay pavement at Thirty-sixth and Thirty-seventh sts. and the North River. The engineer said that the paving had sunk, and Guidet asserted that a defective foundation was the cause and that he was not responsible. was not responsible.

HAPPY GIRLS ON THE BRIDGE.

A group of twenty young girls, of perhaps A group of twenty young girls, of perhaps eighteen years of age, clad in the lightest of summer habitaments of the same material, wearing straw "beach" hats of the same style and trimmines, and each carrying a small basket on her arm, attracted considerable attention yesterday about 9:30 a. m. on the Brooklyn Bridge. They talked and laughed with each other and seemed perfectly oblivious that any other person was on the Bridge. Their enthusiasm at the grand sight before them was unbounded. It was learned afterward that they were a delegation from the St. Frances Hospital, Jersey City, under the charge of Mrs. Mackey, and that it was the first time they had seen the Brooklyn Bridge.

The Irish flag waved from every peak of the Empire City Colosseum, at Sixty-ninth-st. and Avenue-A, yesterday afternoon and evening at the Avenue-A, yesterday afternoon and evening at the reception and games given by the Union of Catholic Young Men's Societies. The reception, which was informal, was tendered to the 750 delegates from the various States to the convention of the Union, which has just closed in Brooklyn, by the societies in the archdiocese of New-York. In the afternoon the young men sought amusement in competitive games of running, jumping and walking, and later on in rowing. In the evening there were about 1,000 persons in attendance, when the Rev. James T. Barry and the Rev. Daniel P. Ward, representing the young men, tendered the reception to the delegates.

THE SEVENTH IN A GAY MOOD

SPORT AND FUN DESPITE WET WEATHER. A DRENCHING RAIN-PARADE OF THE "DARLING DUDES"-FINAL ORDERS-PERSONAL.

[FROM A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT OF THE TRIBUNE.] STATE CAMP OF INSTRUCTION, PEEKSKILL, June 29 .- An able-bodied thunder-storm this afternoon made things in camp decidedly interesting in more ways than one. As it was the last full day of the 7th in camp, a great crowd was anticipated and a special programme has occupied the attention of the men for days. Early this morning Dunderberg was hidden by fog. Then the sun tried to shine, and subsequently became discour-aged. From that time till 3 o'clock, when the mercury had fallen from 89° at noon to 79°, the probabilities were exasperatingly variable. At 3 o'clock the sky darkened and the mountain gorges up the Hudson threatened all sorts of disagreeable things.

Half an hour later the heavens were opened and the floods descended. The lightning had a magnificent pyrotechnic performance that threatened darkensing of contents the content of the that threatened destruction. Occasional gusts of wind rocked the tents like cradles. Small rivers flowed from miniature lakes in all parts of the ground. Inspection of tents was to have taken place at 4 o'clock by Inspector-General Briggs. It would have taken a life-boat, or life-preserver at the very least, to get into the regimental camp from State Headquarters at that hour. The sen-tries, respleadent in full dress, had very sensibly been called in and the camp was at the mercy of any enemy but it would have required a fleet, rather than a land force, to capture it, and the hundreds of unhappy visitors sought the shelter of the mess hall, restaurant and

IMPRISONED BY THE WATERS.

As suddenly as it came the storm ceased. "Who—has —been—spilling—water—on—my—tent1" was the cry of Company D as the men swam out when the sun reap-peared. An enormous lake had formed in the street in front of the tents of the officers of companies F and K. The shore of this impromptu bedy of water was surrounded by officers, privates and citizens.

"Have you any spades," yelled Licutenant Lefferts, imprisoned by the flood, across the lagoon to Lieutenant Dillingham.

"Nothing but kings, queens and jacks-all the rest of the pack is out," was the response wafted across the troubled waters.

Captain Bacon and Lieutenants Schermerhorn and Lefterts were imprisoned in their tents by the flood.

A heroic private rowed a couple of tubs across from the first sergeant's tent to rescue them, but they were found inadequate. Another private plunged boldly in and taking Lieutenant Schermerhorn on his back swam out in safety. The lives of both were saved. The other two officers rolled up their white trousers, pulled off their boots and stockings and waded ashore. It was this soul-stirring spectacle that called out a demand for the photographer.
Altogether the 7th has had a quantity of water this afternoon out of all proportion to its Jamaica ginger. The military road leading from Ros Hook Dock to camp was badly washed out, more damage being done than on Wednesday, but Superintendent Spencer had a gang of men at work filling in the wash-out aimost as soon as the rain stopped.

THE LAST DRESS PARADE.

The order for dress parade, the last by the 7th in camp, had been issued for white trousers. No change was made on account of the rain, and the fact that some of the men had to fish their clothes out of mud-puddles did not make any difference. The parade was witnessed by not fewer than 3,000 people, a third of the number that would have been at the exhibition if the day had been pleasant. A majority of the speciators were New-Yorkers, including a great number of ladies and many officers. Owing to the nature of the son, which abservs water with remarkable rapidity, the parade ground was comparatively ory, and the parade title was an illustration of the benefits to be derived from a week's practical experience in camp. As a military speciacie it was worth enduring all the disconforts of a dozen stormy days to see. Special order No. 10 was read by Adjutant Rand, ordering the regiment to be ready to leave camp at 4 p. m., to-morrow, in heavy marching order, and tanking the officers and men for the faithful manner in which they have performed all their military duties during their stay in the State camp. Dress parade was followed by guard-mounting, which was creditable in every respect.

HOW THE "DUDES" DISPORTED THEMSELVES. the number that would have been at the exhibition

Then came the dress parade and review of the "Darling Dude's Battanon," 375 strong, including the band, which numbered eighty-three pieces. The formation was something remarkable as the ten companies came on the color line, including a company each of fat men, Chinese, English "awells," ballet girls, Jersey Lilies, monks, Turks, babies, hed-carriers and duces. The military monkey-shines that followed caused

Green, adjutant; E. M. Greenhert, Caspana, S. M. Fritt, sergeant-major; P. W. Colwell, surgeon; Charles Cook, drum-major; N. M. Beckwith, daughter of the regiment. The ten companies, in their order of formation, beginning at the right of the line, were commanded and dressed as follows:

First-Corporal Eaward McCoy, Cumpany C, fat men; second, Sergeant H. M. Nesbitt, B. Chinese; third, Sergeant H. M. Spellman, G, English dandles; fourth, Corporal Earrows, A. ballet grit; fifth, Sergeant H. Corporal Earrows, A. ballet grit; fifth, Sergeant H. Corporal Earrows, Lelles; sixth, Sergeant W. A. Jennings, Duval, I. Jersey Lilles; sixth, Sergeant W. A. Jennings, E. monks; seventh, Corporal L. E. Weils, H. Errks; eighth, Sergeant George C. Power, K. babies; ninth, Sergeant E. D. Appleton, F. hod-carriers; tenth, Sergeant M. M. Rogers, D. "dadas"; battery, a Gathug gun made of a stove-pipe, with eight men, commanded by Cerporal George Cook, of Company A. The ambulauce was a diminutive doll-carriage drawn by a lovely female darkey, containing a dentijonn, the top of the carriage bearing this legend; "In case of colic." Our formation of the carriage bearing this legend; "In case of colic." During the passage in review the bano played "Solid Men to the Front." "Chinese Patrol." "The British Grenzdiers." a Polka, "My Alia," the march from "Fatunitza" "The Turkish Patrol," "The Bables on Our Block," "Garry Owen," and "Silly Eoy on a Muddy Day." The other music during the parade and review was highly appropriate to the occasion.

A KNOWING SENTRY AND A GALLANT OFFICER.

A KNOWING SENTRY AND A GALLANT OFFICER. Last night the camp was unusually quiet because mos of the men were entirely worn out by the hard work of yesterday. A few irrepressible ones did succeed in waking their sleeping companions by a discharge of firerackers. General Wilcox accompanied the grand crackers. General whole accompanies the grand rounds. He came recrossone man on guard he thought he would test as to the knowledge of his dulies. The General questioned him for some time on every point involved in sentry duty, and found the man correct in every particular. He was extremely pleased, and did not hesitate to express his gratification to the officers of the regiment who accompanied him. The officers at State Headquarters are conspicuous for their gallantry. To-day one of the youngest and handsomest of them received a delicately scented note in a feminine hand, walch read as follows: He's a Governor's staff young man, He's a giving-you-chaff young man,

He would coquette,
And sham, you bet,
A girl at the camp, young man.

To-day one of the privates detailed to police duty was a well-known millionnaire, who was set to work cleaning up around the band tests. "I've always known that 'riches have wings." and he, "but I never expected I'd come to do him scavenger work at $1.25 a day for a let of windjammers."

THE 13TH REGIMENT TO DEPART TO-DAY. The 7th Regiment, which for seven days has been on duty at the State camp at Peckakill, will to-day strike its tents and return to this city. The preparation for the departure from Brooklyn of the 13th Regiment, which is to be its successor, were completed last evening.

To-day the regiment under the command of Colonel David E. Austen, will leave its armory at Hansonplace and Flatbush-ave., at 11 o'clock, and, headed by Dodworth's Band, will proceed through Flatbush-ave. to Schermerhorn-st. and thence through Henry-st. and Atlantic-ave. to the pier, where the steamer Long Branch will receive it. The steamer is expected to start at 12.30. As the sall to Peekskill requires but three and one-half hours, the regiment will probably arrive at the camp about 3 p. m.

Colenel Austen said yesterday that the regiment would muster 425 men on going into camp, which would be increased to 550 on the Fourth. In addition to the regular equipment two twelve-pound howitzers will be taken to Peekskill. The gunz are to be used in firing salutes and in the sham fight which is to take place on salutes and in the sham fight which is to take place on the Fourth. Besides the regimental band a drum corps of thirty pieces under Drum-Major McIntyre will accompany the troops and awaken the echoes of the Huddon. Sunday will be a red-letter day in the camp. In the morning the regular inspection of the companies will take place. In the afternoon, at 4 o'clock, Cnaplain Beecher will preach a sermon, after which a sacred concert will be given by the band. Dress parade will take place at 6 o'clock. The Fourth will be made a feative occasion. A sham fight, in which all the companies will participate, will take place at 9 a. in. The Veteran Association will make a visit to the camp on that day, and will remain till later in the evening. As the 13th Regiment is one of the best disciplined regiments in the National Guard, much more is expected from its work at Peckskill than from some of the others. The programme of duties is a sovere one, but it will no doubt be cheerfully carried out by its members.

THE CHICAGO MARKETS.

BASELESS RUMOR ABOUT ARMOUR & CO. WHEAT LOWER THAN FOR MONTHS

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.] CHICAGO, June 29 .- Wheat was lower to-day than yesterday, lower than at any time for months. The June option touched 984, the July 98%, and the August 101. There was a rally after these lowest figures of the day were touched, but it was not sustained. At night on the "curb" all the options were selling at the lowest points of the day, and the feeling was weak early in the morning. There and the feeling was weak early in the morning. There was something of a boom in this grain because it was reported that the Suez Canal had been closed for fear of the choicra raging at Damietta, Egypt. Everybody seemed to feel that if the road for India wheat had been closed American wheat was worth more money. There was consequently a great deal of telegraphing done to ascertain the truth of the matter. The local crowd finally settled down to the conclusion that the canal was likely after all to remain open and then away went prices. Wheat declined 14,4212 a bushel and athight had not recovered, and showed no shilling to recover. St. Louis, which was very "bullish." awhile ago when wheat was fetching 10215c. more a bushel than now, has turned very "bearish."

There were scores of dispatches to-day telling of the arrival of a new Lag of wheat, or of the sale of Kansas wheat at remarkably cheap figures. On the other hand a firm which still insists that good wheat is not wholly without some intrius; value exhibited a bag of new wheat which has been sent them from Tennessee, which as much resembled chaff as it did.

Lester & Co., whom the gossips say have made hundreds of thousands of dol-lars for their customers and themselves, by selling with all their might during the last three or four weeks, have "covered," so have Swartz and Dupee. The Kershaws were the bignest sellers to-day, throwing out wheat and corn. David Dows & Co. were sellers of the latter, also on a considerable scale. Corn indeed depreciated more to-day than wheat, dropping 219 and 3 cents a bushel. It was affected more by the hot, fine weather than by anything else, although the shipments were have been recently. June corn and July closed both at 504c., a decline from last night of 24c. for June and 23c. for July. Provisions during the day were steady, lard especially recovering very promptly from

DISQUIETING RUMORS IN NEW-YORK. UNEASINESS IN THE PRODUCE EXCHANGE-ALARM-ING REPORTS NOT CREDITED.

Disquieting rumors were circulated in the Produce Exchange yesterday to the effect that the Western markets were again at fever heat, and that one or more large houses were in difficulty. For a period there was more uneasiness than at any time since the tailure of McGeoch on June 16, and some were inclined to give credence to the reports. For four days there has been a strong effort not only to keep prices up but to advance them; but in spite of this there has been a sharp decline, and it is felt by the most conservative that disaster could not be averted before prices settle back to a legitimate basis. Considerable alarm was felt when the rumor of the financial embarrassment of Plankinton & Armour, the largest provision bouse in Chicago, was repeated for the eighth or tenus time, and was stated that this rumor came from Milwaukee in a dispatch. H. O. Armour was on the floor of the Produce Exchange. When asked about the rumor he said, with much emphasis;

"There is not a word of truth in this or in any of the rumors that have been circulated with regard to us. When I first heard these rumors I telegraphed to 2. D. Armour, who was out in Manifoba on a fishing execusion, and he is now on his way to Chicago, and steps will be taken to learn where these rumors originated. Any man who has such a dispatch as you suggest is a chief and a Har, and any man who says he has seen such a dispatch is a Har. It is a physical impossibility for such a dispatch to exist, and I'll bet $1,000 to $1 that such a dispatch to exist, and I'll bet $1,000 to $1 that such a dispatch does not exist; yes, I'll give you $1,000 to show me such a dispatch. These runners do not affect us, for we have get $20,000,000 to pay $2,000,000 that we owe; or they do such runners to eriminal, and in a couple of days the Exchange will offer a reward for evidence that will detect the originator of them. They are absolutely false in every normals.

change will ofter a reward for eventual service originator of them. They are absolutely false in every particular,"

Several of the leading members of the Produce Exchange langhed at the rumors about the failure of P. D. Armour, and spoke to about the same strain as old George C. Martin, who said: "I do not trink there is a san low of truth in the rumor. I would has soon expect to hear of the failure of the Bank of England as to hear that Plankinton & Armour had failed. Way, they are the leading provision men of the world, and are cacked by an immense capital. P. D. Armour is worth at le. 1.510,000,000. Chicago would not permit the firm to sai, for it would crease one of the greatest panies known, and banks as well as individuals would suiter."

Later disputches were not of so disturbing a character. When had a tendency to lower prices and July delivered sclosed 1's cents lower than on Taursday. Corn was stronger for "spot." but in options it was unsettled and prices closed lower, July and September being 1'4 acust off from Taursday hight. Oats advanced early in the day, but went off again, and lard closed without material change and a moderate business doing.

NO RACE FOR LACK OF WIND.

A challenge race was sailed yesterday between J. G. Prague's new sloop Crocodile and Dr. J. G. Barron's yacht Ware. The race was over the Atlantic Yacht Club's course, and Commodore Vermilye's schooner-yacht Atalanta was the boat. The yachts started shortly after 1 o'clock from the Atiantic Club casin, the Croscodile brossing the line at 1:09:45 and the Wave at 1:10:10. The tide was on the last of the flood and the wind almost directly south. The racers stood down through the Narrows, the Crocodile a long way in the lead. The wind was very light, and threatened to die out altogether light, and threatened to die out altogether. The Wave stood over in 5 Sheepshead Bar and 20t the first of the obb tide, when enabled her to plak up on the Crocodile. The Crocodile rounded Buoy No. 8 at 4:47, and the Wave at 50'clock.

The Wave was able to make the Scotland Lightship without tacking, but the trocodile made two legs of it. They rounded the light close together, the Crocodile have a passonds alread. On the run up to the Narrows the Wave passed shead, but after entering the Upper Bay she got be calmed under Owl's Head and her opponent was not able to reach the finishing line before the racers, but the time as taken on shore was for the Crocodile 10:20, and for the Wave 10:23. The Crocodile allows the Wave 2 minutes 2 seconds. The race will probably be sailed over.

SUMMER RESORTS.

THE SEASON AT ASBURY PARK. THE HOTELS FILLING UP-CHANGES AND IMPROVE-MENTS-TWO WRECKS.

ASBURY PARK, June 29 .- The season here is airly epened and hundreds of new arrivals are registered daily at the hotels and boarding houses. This is the greatest boarding house town of the New-Jersey seacoast. There are many private cottages here, but the majority of the buildings in the Park are devoted to the keeping of boarders during the summer months. The cottages are of all styles of architecture from the barnlike looking structure to the most varied Early English and Queen Anne villas.

There are two wrecks here which attract much attention. One of them is the two-masted schooper Laura Bridgeman, from St. George, Me., which came ashore here in a fog last week while on her way from Baltimo to Newport. The vessel is laden with gas coal, and lies about twenty-five yards out from the beach, in the outer edge of the surf. The other wreck is the stranded two-masted schooner Mabel Thomas, which lies high and dry on the sands a short distance below the southern boundary of Ocean Beach. She was driven far up on the beach during a fleree storm in March. She stands upright in the sand and bids fair to remain there until next winter, when the high tides may take her back into the water. These wrecks are a source of great interest to visiters from the city.

The Coleman House is altuated in the midst of a beautiful plot of ground at the foot of Wesley Lake, near the beach. From its plazzas a full view is obtained of the beach. From its plazzas a full view is obtained of the beach and the "white caps" as they come rolling in, and of Westey Lake. At night the bright-colored Chinese lanterns that swing from the boats upon the lake make a picture-sque sight. The Coleman House has been refrescoed this senson. It opened a few days ago and is already well filled with guests. The Ocean Hotel and the Metropolitan, in Asbury-ave., a block further west from the sea, have their share of the guests.

Professor Hamilton, of Princeton, and his family are At their cottage in Fourth-ave.

Theodore K. Davis, the artist, has a beautiful cottage here, where he apends his time sketching.

The statue of the Goddess of Liberty, which attracted so much attention at the Centennial Exposition, has been purchased by Mr. Bradley, the father of Asbury Park, and placed in the centre of the plot north of the railway station.

Mrs. N. Donnesis, Miss Mabel Wilson, Miss Annie Flor-ence Wilson, Mrs. William Watson, Miss Edith Wilson, Mrs. H. I. Kingsbury, Mrs. L. Rich, C. arles Golden and son, E. Ellinger, of New-York; B. B. Carpenter, of Phila-

THE YALE-HARVARD RACE.

A TALK W. To: THE CAPTAIN OF THE YALE CREW. Boston, June 29 .- A dispatch to The from New-Haven says: Captain Herald Louis K. Huli, of the Yale freely with a reporter to-day about their defeat at New London yesterday. He denied that his men were over-trained, and said they were in the at condition. The simple fact was that his men were outrowed and lairly beaten. He said; "The result was a disappointment to all of us.

We were by no means overwheimingly confi-dent. We knew we had a hard race before us, and that Harvard's depreciation of erself was all for effect. Still we expected to win. When we know how badly we were beaten and what poor time we had made it seemed like a dream to us. We could not understand it a. all. The time more than the defeat was what astonished and mortifled us. Why, the worst time we made in going over course after we went to New-Lon course after we went to New-London was less than 25 minutes, and this against a head wind and tide. Our best practice line was 22 min. 18 sec. and that was done under unfavorable circumstances too. From the time we began to practice rowing in the harbor we never went four miles without a turn in less than twenty-five minutes. When we had a full boat's length lead Felsom, our stroke, thought that Harvard, when she drew up to us, was retting a temporary advantage by a riking into a swiftly flowing lavorable current. Init idea, it seems, was a mistake, and when he realized the state of affairs it was too late to regain the advantage lost. I have no reason to believe that the men could not have kept up their most rapid stroke throughout went to New-London

"H, when Yale wob.
"The stroke was recommended by the best boating authorities in the country. The Yale crew tried it and found they could make better time with it than with any other stroke. The failure to win was due to causes outside the stroke. I have not lost couldence in it, and has crew will undoubtedly stick to it."

RITUALISM IN CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, June 29 .- The vestry of the Protestant Episcopai Church of the Ascension (an extreme high church), of which the Roy. "Father" Ritchie is rector, to-night adopted a letter prepared by a commissee ad iressed to Bishop McLaren upon the misunderstanding existing between the Bishop and the rector. 'Tse letter is very courteous but firm in tone, profeses fealty to the church and Bishop, but, at the same time, asserts that the Church of the Ascension should instruct in accordance with the laws of its church, and chides the Blanop, if he thinks otherwise, for falling to visit the church and instruct the parish as to its wrong, and administer the rite of confirmation, etc. It is believed that this letter is one step toward an open rupture between the parish and diocess like that in which the Rev. Charles Edward Cheney withdrew and established a Reformed Episcopal Church, except that it is upon the side of ritualism instead of non-ritualism.

A THREATENED PRINTERS' STRIKE.

CHICAGO, June 29 .- All the publishers, save one, have refused to grant the printers' demand for higher wages. There is some talk of arbitration, but the problemers say that with the present commercial outlook and steady shrinkage of prices they cannot consent to an increase of their operating expenses. The result of a contention will be known in a few days. Since the report went abroad of the contemplated strike hundreds or country printers have applied for the expected vacant cases. The belief prevails this evening in newspaper circles that the Typographical Union will indefinitely postpans the strike.

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

WILLIAM A. COOK VENTS HIS WRATH. HE CHARGES ATTORNEY-GENERAL BREWSTER WITH UTTERING A "MALIGNANT FALSEHOOD."

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.] WASHINGTON, June 29 .- William A. Cook, of Washington, formerly one of the Government counsel in the Star Route cases, has written a letter of this date to Attorney-General Brewster, in which he refutes some statements attributed to the Attorney-General in an interview published in The Philadelphia Press of May 24. In this interview Mr. Brewster was quoted as saying t "Mr. Bliss told me that Bosier's [J. M. Bosler, of Carlisle, Penn.] books contained entries of several thousand dollars paid the law partner of William Cook and A. M. Gibson. [on account of expenses incurred in the defence of the Star Route suits.] Both Mr. Cook and Mr. Gibson were originally retained by the Government in these cases and I dismissed them because I felt that their services could be dispensed with."

On June 7 Mr. Cook wrote to Mr. Brewster in regard to this interview, but failed to receive any reply. He therefore assumes that the interview is authentic, and writes to him again in part as folauthentic, and writes to him again in part as follows:

I am not accustomed to notice misrepresentations or censure which the uninformed or malignant may circulate or publish against me. I have neither time nor inclination to do so, but your accidental position as Attorney-General of the United States imparts to your accusations an importance which they would not possess if they emanated from you as a private individual, and therefore, both public and personal respect require that they should receive a proper denial from me.

1. It is utterly false that the defendants in the Star Route cases "bought" me as one of the ex-counsel. No one of them had the audacity to attempt it. I believe that Mr. Cole was for a while employed by Mr. Rerdeil; but I am credibly informed that he gave a receipt for his fee whom was turned over to the Government. It is to be presumed that you knew this fact. Moreover, you were not ignorant of the truth that Mr. Cole and I were only limited partners in civil cases. This information you had twice from my tips, so that your assertion was not only untrue but made with fall information of the actual facts.

2. The declaration that you dismissed me as one of the original attorneys in the Star Route cases could not be surpassed in the realm of bold and and sclous interaction in the star Route cases could not be surpassed in the realm of bold and and sclous interaction "was a surprise" to you, and that you "could not see the necessity for it"; and that had I "continued in the cases and labored in them" my "necliness would have been appreciated". It cannot, therefore, se doubted that when you made the assertion that you had dismissed me you knew it was utterly untrue. The intellectual and meral depravity which tempted and impelied you to malign and misrepresent me, as you have done, I am unable to comprehend. You probably can, It only remains for me to state that I will publish this reply to your manifestly malignant faischood in the public press and pissue any other plan of vindication I may d

CHANGES IN REVENUE DISTRICTS. MODIFICATIONS OF THE ORIGINAL ORDER.

WASHINGTON, June 29 .- The President today made several modifications in the recent executive order relating to the consolidation of internal revenue districts. The counties of Pender and Vance in North Carolina were added to the IVta District as constituted by the recent order. These counties were only recently created and were accidentally overlooked when the question of reorganizing the districts was first considered. In the original order the districts of Montana, Idabo and Utah were consolidated and Ovando J. Hollister, Collector of the present Ulah districts, was designated as Collector of the new district. This was changed to-day by the designation of Thomas P. Fuller, Collector of the present Montana District, as Collector of the new district, vice Hollister, dropped. The change was made because of the greater collections in the Montana disbecause of the greater collections in the Montana district.

The most important change, however, was in Kentnexy, resulting in the retention of one more district in that State than was allowed in the original order. Under the new order of things the present Vith District will be retained, with John W. Finnell as Collector and headquarters probably at Covington. All the counties in the present IXth District not added to the VIIIth District, and all of the present VIth District not added to the VIIIth District, the new district, to be known as the VIIIth District. A. M. Swope, Collector of the present VIIth District. He will probably have his office in Lexington. It is stated that this modification of the original plan was rendered necessary by reason of diverse business connections of the districts near Lexington and Covington respectively.

ALEXANDER III THANKS THE PRESIDENT Washington, June 29 .- Mr. Willamov, the Russian Charge d'Affaires, was to-day presented to the President and delivered a letter from the Emperor of Russia expressing his appreciation of the action of the United States Government in accrediting Mr. Hunt as a special representative to Moscow on the occasion of the imperial coronation, and in ordering a vessel of the Navy to Russia and directing the presence of Admiral

Navy to Russia and the seremony.

The President said that such acts were no less spontaneous than due to the friendly relations which have so long bound the two countries together, and that the opportunity to testify their good will on ac conspicuous an occasion had been very gratifying to the Government and people of the United States.

THE HILL INVESTIGATION.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—The Hill investigation was resumed this morning with General Stinemetz as witness in the Bartlett, Robbins & Co. case. In 1874. when witness was Assistant Superintendent of Con struction of the New-York Post Office, extra work upon the building was energed for Bartlett, Robbins & Co. amounting to about $37,000. Witness read extracts from two letters written by him to the Supervising Architect relative to the work which was at that time being done by Bartiett, Robbins & Co. under their contract. In done by Bartlett, Robbins & Co. under their contract. In one he represented that the work was being delayed through not having sufficient force employed, and was not likely to be completed at the stipulated time. In the other letter he complained of the character of the work, and advised a suspension, of payment to them (Bartlett, Robbins & Co.) until the work could be properly inspected and approved by an inspector. Witness then took up the plans of the building, and pointed out, item by item, the extra work for which specific charges were made in the bill rendered by Bartlett, Robbins & Co., and which was allowed and paid by Mr. Hill.

Mr. Coleman stated that he proposed to show that no part of the $37,000 was ever authorized, and that Mr. Hill know it when he paid the bills.

THE ARMY AND NAVY.

Washington, June 29. - Quartermaster-General Ingalls has requested to be placed upon the retired list of the Army from July 1, when he will have been forty years to active service. There is considerable speculation as to his successor. Generals Holabird, Saxton and Perry are the most prominent candidates for the position. First Lieutenant John P. Story, 4th Artillery, Acting Signal Officer, has been appointed to act as inspector on certain public property at Fort Meyer, Ye., reported as unserviceable, and for which Second Lieutenant James A. Swift, Signal corps, is responsible.

The President has decided to name the proposed dispatch boat for the Navy the Dolphin. Commandes Thomas H. Eastman was to-day placed upon the retired list of the Navy by direction of the President. Ensign Frank W. Bowdon has been detached from duty in the Library of the Navy Department and placed on waiting orders; Ensign W. W. Buchanan from the United States ship Portsmouth and granted two months' leave of absence; Passed Assistant Surgeon John F. Bransford from special duty at the Smithsonian Institution and ordered to temporary duty at the Naval Academy; Assistant Engineer Walter M. McFarland from the Melhigan, July 16, and ordered to duty at Cornell University August 1. The resignation of First Lieutenant Frank Scott, marine corps, has been accepted, to take effect June 30. He was tried by court martial on a charge of scandalous conduct, but was allowed to resign.

THE SALVATION ARMY CHECKED.

Police Commissioner Jourdan, of Brooklyn, yesterday refused permission to the Salvation Army to parade or preach in the streets, and sent a notice to all the police stations that hereafter no street preaching will be allowed. This will probably relieve Brooklyn of the affliction of the "Biodwashed Warriors" which it has long and pattently borne.
